Pitch

A rock answer to the oldest question — am I what I'm made of, or what I choose to become?

Description

"I Am Projection" is an alt-metal anthem about being more than the sum of your genes and your circumstances. Inspired by Richard Dawkins, it argues that to reach the stars we first have to reach into ourselves — and choose what to become next.

Appendix A: Lyrics

Genes are blueprint of me
Context is plan for mind
I am a projection
When the world and genes combined
I can change myself
By controlling input stream
Chaotic information
Leads to brain from cream

I would like to construct
Spaceship to visit Mars
To visit ancient Mars
To visit the nearest stars
For this I should first
Reconstruct myself
I must organize my mind
Like knowledge on a bookshelf

To visit other planets
I need strong legs and arms
Plus a heat-resistant body
Plus replacements for my lungs
I need a strong power source
Not organic food.
I need a set of sensors
Plus X-ray vision aptitude

I am information
Collected by genes' pool
My genes build my brain
It's genes' defensive tool
Brain is so complex thing
That he got its own free will
It can be chance of freedom
Or chance to make self kill

I would like to construct
Spaceship to visit Mars
To visit ancient Mars
To visit the nearest stars
For this I should first
Reconstruct myself
I must organize my mind
Like knowledge on a bookshelf

Appendix B: Epigraphs

I am not what happened to me, I am what I choose to become.

— Carl Jung — Psychiatrist and psychoanalyst,

Genes give us capacities. Environments influence how these capacities develop. But choices shape the trajectory

— Steven Pinker — Cognitive psychologist and linguist,
